GERMANS RUSH AID TO AUSTRIA

BERLIN, via Amsterdam, May 27.—The first clash between German and Italian troops is imminent, if it has not already occurred.

A German army corps is concentrated on the Trentino frontier and is strongly entrenched. A dispatch to the Vossische Zeitung states that the main Italian army is approaching the Germans, being only two miles from their trenches when the message was sent.

ON THE ITALIAN FRONTIER, via Paris, May 27.—Twenty thousand German troops have passed through Salzburg toward the Italian frontier during the last twenty-four hours. These forces come from the Western war theatre. Other German troops from the Eastern theatre are rushing to the Southern front through Innsbruck. An entire Austrian corps is en route from Silesia, whence thirty batteries have been transferred to Trentino.

German 17-inch guns have been placed in position near Gradisca and the surrounding district has been mined.

Terror prevails in Trentino, where the Austrians are reported to have executed many Italians as spies. Five hundred have been imprisoned since Sunday.

AUSTRIANS MAY MAKE STAND.

The Austrians are today expected to make their first stand against the advancing Italian army on the northern bank of the Isonzo River, where they are reported in strongly prepared positions, blocking the movement toward Trieste.

At the same time there are rumors of an intended Teuton drive into the plains of Lombardy. The Austro-German forces are said to be massing at Trent for this purpose. If the Austrians succeeded in Lombardy, they would occupy Milan, a city of nearly 500,000 inhabitants.

But the Italians are themselves moving toward the army reported massed about Trent, pushing forward through the Adige River valley, in which Trent lies, and occupying both sides of Lake Garda, at the frontiers of Trentino in the Tyrol.

Italy's attack on Austria has developed rapidly during the past few hours, with advances across the border at numerous points on nearly the entire frontier, both north and east. Villages and heights in the Alps have been occupied by the Italians, from a point near the Swiss border to the Adriatic Sea.

On the naval side Italy has proclaimed a blockade of the entire Austrian coast and also the shore line of Albania.

Passing through the Brenta valley, one column has entered Condina, a

Sergt. O'Leary's Famous Feat.

How Sergeant O'Leary won the Victoria Cross by attacking the German machine-gun crew single handed, practically capturing the enemy's position by himself," was told recently in the Daily Mail by Company Quartermaster-Sergeant J. G. Lowry of the Irish Guards, who was actually present at the time. He stated:

"My company was ordered from our trench to keep up a hot rifle and machine-gun fire across the German trenches and points of cover. After the rain of bullets and shrapnel had been kept up for twenty minutes No. 1 Company was let loose on our left. They came out of the trenches with a yell, bayonets fixed, and went for the enemy at the double. They had from 100 to 150 yards to travel, and they went at a tidy pace, but were easily outstripped by Lance-Corporal O'Leary, as he then was.

"He never looked to see if his mates were coming, and he must have done pretty near even time over that patch of ground. When he got near the end of one of the German trenches he dropped, and so did many others a long way behind him. The enemy had discovered what was up.

"A machine gun was O'Leary's mark. Before the Germans could manage to slew it round and meet the charging men O'Leary picked off the whole of the five of the machine-gun crew ,and ,leaving some of his mates to come up and capture the gun ,he dashed forward to the second barricade, which the Germans were quitting in a hurry ,and shot three more.

SERGEANT O'LEARY IS KILLED

Sergeant "Mike" O'Leary, V. C., hailed as "The Bravest Man in the British Army," is dead.

Four short months of almost worldwide glory were allotted by Fate to the dashing young hero of the Irish Guards, who was decorated and promoted for his feat at Cuinchy on February 1, when he slew eight Germans, captured two more, saved his own company from machine gun fire and made it possible to capture the German position.

Today's war dispatches relate briefly that Dublin relatives of Sergeant O'Leary have just been notified that he has been killed in battle.

He was only twenty-four years old, but he had accomplished one of the most sensational individual feats of the war, and, though but a modest lance-corporal then, he sprang into the place of heroes and was praised and admired in a way that generals might envy.

Boston, with its large Irish population, has been particularly interested in the valor of O'Leary and its prompt recognition by the Victoria Cross, by promotion and by articles of commendation in the press.

O'LEARY ONCE IN CANADA.

There has been added interest in O'Leary on this side of the water also because he served for a year in the famous Northwest Mounted Police of Canada, a body of men known widely as bold and efficient enforcers of law and order.

Sergeant Michael O'Leary, V. C., was born in Kilbarry, near Inchigeela, in the barony of Iveleary, County Cork, not far from the town of Macroom. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel O'Leary. His sixty-year-old father was a famous football player, hurler and boxer.

Michael entered the British Navy at sixteen as stoker. He was invalided home from Malta and discharged. His mother nursed him back to fine health. He re-enlisted in the Irish Guards and served four years at Buckingham Palace.

When his time was up he went to Canada and put in a year on the mounted police force. Last Fall he answered the call of the colors and went home to join the First Battalion of the Irish Guards. He was assigned to Company 1.

Early in January O'Leary wrote his mother he had been promoted to lance-corporal. He glorified the work of the Irish Guards, especially as bayonet fighters.

TANGO WAR OVER EUGENIA KELLY

NEW YORK, May 27.—The "breeze" started by Miss Eugenia Kelly and her tangoing friends is reaching hurricane proportions that are causing anxiety to proprietors of Broadway's cabaret palaces. The "wild oats" of which Mrs. Helen Kelly felt constrained to complain in the public court may be reaped by these modern bonifaces.

The Committee of Fourteen—possibly the most influential of local civic organizations—has taken up the investigation of conditions which it is alleged led to Mrs. Kelly's charge of incorrigibility against her daughter. If the police cannot get evidence on which the tango and cabaret resorts can be closed, declares Mrs. Henry Moskowitz, a member of the committee can and will do so.

DISMISS 7 RUSSIAN GENERALS

VIENNA, via Berlin and Amsterdam, May 27.—Dispatches from Budapest report that the Austro-German troops in Galicia have reached and cut the railroad line between Przemysl and Lemberg, practically completing the investment of Przemysl. This means that, from a military standpoint, Przemysl is surrounded.

By FRANCIS LAVELLE MURRAY, Special Correspondent of the International News Service.

PETROGRAD, May 27.—Seven generals of the Russian army have been removed from their commands as a result of the recent Austro-German successes in Galicia. They have been retired. Five others have been relieved of field service and attached to the commissary and transportation departments.

The change in the personnel of the commanding officers had been expected ever since Emperor Nicholas left for the front, and therefore caused no surprise here. The names of the generals removed from active service have not yet been made public.

The battle on the San River continues without decisive result, according to latest reports received by the War Office. It is asserted, however, that the attempts of the Austro-German army to [illegible] the Russian centre has completely failed and that the Czar's troops are maintaining their lines unbroken, though at some points a short retirement was made necessary because of the heavy bombardment from the enemy's artillery.

The fighting has been resumed along the entire Galician front with increased violence. Both the opposing armies have been reinforced and the Austro-German troops have received fresh supplies of ammunition, the non-arrival of which recently caused a temporary lull.

First Meeting of Coalition Cabinet

By International News Service.

LONDON, May 27.—The first meeting of the new "national Cabinet" was held today for the purpose of organizing, while the duties of the new government department, "the Ministry of Munitions," were thoroughly discussed. Sterner ideas of warfare may be expected to emanate from the coalition Cabinet.

The growing need of such ideas was among the fundamental causes of the reorganization of the government. German methods of warfare will be more closely followed.

INVESTIGATE BLOWING UP OF U. S. STEAMSHIP

LONDON, May 27.—(Bulletin) The steamship Morwenna, of Montreal, has been torpedoed off St. Anne's head by a German submarine. The members of the Morwenna's crew were landed at Milford Haven, Wales, today. The Morwenna was a ship of 1414 tons and was owned by the St. Lawrence Shipping Company. She flew the British flag.

LONDON, May 27.—The Danish steamship Betty was torpedoed and sunk in the North Sea on Wednesday by a German submarine. The members of the Betty's crew were landed at Shields today. The Betty was a vessel of 2,109 tons and hailed from Copenhagen.

By International News Service.

WASHINGTON, May 27.—A report from Captain Greene of the American steamship Nebraskan by wireless to Consul-General Skinner in London and transmitted to the State Department today, indicates that only a careful examination of the hull of the vessel upon her arrival at Liverpool will enable American representatives to determine whether the Nebraskan struck a floating mine or was torpedoed by a German submarine.

Supplementary reports from Consul Frost at Queenstown and from Ambassador Page at London did not serve to clear up the matter.

Ambassador Page announced that he had sent a naval attache to Liverpool to investigate the damage sustained by the Nebraskan. Until this inspection shall have been made State Department officials will give no opinion on the case.

WASHINGTON OFFICIALS GRAVE OVER BLOWING UP OF NEBRASKAN

The Nebraskan's flag was not flying, having been hauled down five minutes before the explosion, Captain Greene reported. His message, cabled by Consul General Skinner, read:

"Greene, master of the American steamship Nebraskan, in wireless addressed to me via Lands Ends, reports:

"'Nebraskan passed Fastnet Rock Tuesday, 4:30 p. m., from Liverpool, bound for Delaware Breakwater in ballast. At 8:24 p. m., when steamer was about forty-eight miles west one-half south from Fastnet, she experienced a violent shock, followed instantly by a terrific explosion, bursting her hatches and throwing hatch beams, cargo derricks and twisted iron into the air and filling lower hold forward completely with water.

"'The crew immediately took to the boats. After standing by the ship for one hour they returned on board and at 10:30 p. m. started for Liverpool. About 10:25 a. m. we met two vessels sent by British Admiralty in answer to our wireless call. One has been in attendance ever since. It was dusk when explosion occurred. Flag had been hauled down five minutes before.

"'Steamer's name was painted on both sides of ship in letters six feet tall. Had no warning and saw nothing.'"

Ambassador Page cabled:

"British Admiralty have report from Queenstown that Nebraskan is now on her way to Liverpool under her own steam and escort. I am sending naval attache to Liverpool to examine ship, which it now appears was outward bound from Liverpool to Delaware Breakwater, when torpedoed."

Consul Frost at Queenstown reported:

"American steamer Nebraskan struck mine or torpedo at [illegible] o'clock, evening of [illegible], twenty miles south of Fastnet. Crew returned to vessel at midnight. Rising forward, but all water. Now proceeding to Liverpool under own steam. Admiralty patrol as convoy."

The State Department is deeply impressed with the fact that Captain Greene offers no theory as to the cause of the injury to his vessel and that he does not suggest the base [illegible] clearly discernible at a distance in the night. This is construed as indicating a doubt in the mind of the captain as to whether his ship was deliberately torpedoed.

The consequences of a development that the Nebraskan was torpedoed without warning by a German submarine cannot be foretold, but those who must deal with the situation are admittedly grave when such a supposition is broached.

With this government still awaiting a reply to its note on the Lusitania's disaster, and with the Gulflight, Falaba and Frye incidents still fresh in the public mind, it is apparent that an attack upon another steamship at this time would strain to the breaking point the patience of the United States.

This government is still without definite information concerning the date upon which to expect the Kaiser's reply to the Wilson note. While the German situation remains uncertain, the controversy between this country and England over the detention of neutral cargoes is clearing up. Conferences between the trade advisers of the State Department on behalf of American shippers, and representatives of the British are to be taken up again, following Great Britain's acknowledgment that she would not continue such conferences as reflecting the official view of the United States on the subject of the interruption of commerce between this country and neutral ports of Europe.

By JOHN C. FOSTER,
Special Correspondent of the International News Service.

LONDON, May 27.—American Ambassador Walter H. Page today sent Captain P. A. Symington, naval attache to the United States Embassy, to Liverpool to make a thorough examination of the American steamship Nebraskan to determine whether or not she had been torpedoed by a submarine.

Captain Symington was also instructed to receive the report of Captain J. S. Greene, master of the Nebraskan, which will be transmitted to the State Department at Washington by Ambassador Page.

The arrival of the Nebraskan was eagerly awaited at Liverpool so that details of the accident could be definitely learned from Captain Greene.

The following wireless message was received from the captain of the damaged ship this morning:

"Despite flooded fore-head, have been able to make steady progress all night, traveling at nine knots through a dead calm sea."

Representatives of the Atlantic Transport Line, which chartered the Nebraskan from her owners, the American Hawaiian Steamship Line, said that the Nebraskan would be put into dry dock upon her arrival at Liverpool.

KING VICTOR, TAKING COMMAND, ISSUES ADDRESS TO ARMIES

ROME, May 27.—King Victor Emmanuel arrived at the front today and assumed supreme command of the Italian armies that are pressing into Austrian territory along the entire frontier from Switzerland to the Adriatic. The King announced his assumption of the command with the following decree, issued as an order of the day:

Soldiers:

On land and sea the solemn hour of the vindication of our national claims has sounded.

Following the example of my great ancestor, I assume supreme command of the land and sea forces with sure confidence of victory which your valor, self-sacrifice and discipline will bring.

The enemy whom you prepare to fight is seasoned and worthy of you. He is favored by the ground and by scientific preparation. He will offer obstinate resistance, but your indomitable dash will defeat him.

Soldiers, yours is the glory of hoisting the tri-color of Italy upon the sacred bounds which nature places as the confines of our country, yours the glory of accomplishing the work undertaken with so much heroism by our fathers.

IL RE VITTORIO EMMANUELE, PRENDENDO IL COMANDO, INDIRIZZA UN PROCLAMA ALL' ARMATA

ROMA, 27 Maggio—Re Vittorio Emmanuele arrivato oggi al fronte, ha assunto il comando supremo delle truppe italiane. Il Re ha indirizzato il seguente proclama:

"Soldati:

"Per terra e per mare l'ora solenne delle nostre rivendicazion nazionali e suonata.

"Seguendo l' esempio del mio grande predecessore, io assumo il supremo comando delle forze di terra e di mare confidando nella vittoria per il vostro valore, sacrificio e la vostra disciplina.

"Il nostro nemico e' forte ed ha una scientifica preparazione; egli ci offrira' una ostinata resistenza, ma il vostro indomabile ed irresistibile valore vincera.

"Soldati, vostra sara' la gloria di piantare il Tricolore D'Italia nelle sacra balze che la Natura ha posto a nostri confini; vostra la gloria di compire il lavoro principiato dall' aroismo dei vostri Padri."

SERGEANT O'LEARY KILLED IN BATTLE

sion. The news was contained in what is called the "V. C. List" in the London Gazette, which is an account of these rare awards of the famous Victoria Cross for special bravery on the field of action. This "V. C. List" contained the following item:

"No. 3556, Lance-Corporal Michael O'Leary, First Battalion Irish Guards, for conspicuous bravery at Cuinchy on February 1, 1915, when forming one of a storming party which advanced against the enemy's barricades.

He rushed to the front and himself killed five Germans, who were holding a first barricade, after which he attacked a second barricade about sixty yards farther on, which he captured after killing three of the enemy and making prisoners of two more; Lance-Corporal O'Leary thus practically captured the enemy's position by himself and prevented the rest of the attacking party from being fired upon."

On February 13 the hero wrote his mother that he had been promoted to a full sergeancy on account of distinguished conduct at Cuinchy. He praised the work of his company and of the Irish Guards in general, but he modestly omitted the details of his own spectacular feat.

The Irish Guards were wild with delight at the fame O'Leary brought them. The only Victoria Cross held by the regiment had been lost when Brigadier-General Fitz-Clarence was killed. O'Leary brought the V. C. back to it.

The enemy "got" O'Leary in time, as today's dispatches show, but not before he had left his mark on them.

FRENCH ATTEMPTS TO BREAK GERMAN LINES REPULSED

BERLIN, May 27.—Hard fighting is going on all along the northern end of the battle line, but attempts of the French troops to break the German lines have all been repulsed, according to an official statement issued by the German war office this afternoon. Assaults were launched by the French in the Lorette Hills and at Vermelles (bettween Arras and La Bassee), but these were repulsed with heavy losses.

In the region of Souchez, on the Arras-Bethune Highway, fierce fighting is in progress with the French attempting to drive the Germans from their trenches West of Givenchy.

The Germans are again locked in combat with the Belgians in West Flanders. At Dixmude one Belgian officer and twenty-five men were captured.

A successful air raid was carried out last night against the British fortifications on the lower Thames.

ITALY BLOCKADES COAST OF AUSTRIA

village nine miles west of Lake Garda. The fighting is increasing. An Italian bayonet charge resulted in the capture of the defile of Val d'Inferno, in the Carnic Alps.

Italian troops have seized various towns in the Trentino and forced their way through mountain defiles.

On the lower Isonzo attacks were continued to gain the line of the river. The Italians who crossed the Austrian frontier along a front of sixty miles in this region have not yet met with any serious opposition.

Italian troops that have invaded Austria along a line near the border, running north of the Gulf of Trieste, continue to advance toward the Isonzo River at three points, forcing the Austrians to retire. Apparently the Austrians thus far have made no determined resistance.

Reports received here from Trentino say the Austrian military authorities have ordered the destruction of government buildings, barracks, monasteries and churches in order that they may have a free range for their guns.

Acute Articular Rheumatism

Relieved By Anti-Kamnia Tablets

The exact cause of rheumatism is unknown, though it is generally believed to be due to an excess of uric acid in the blood. It may be also said with equal truth that no remedy has been found which is a specific in all cases. In fact the literature of rheumatism shows that there are but few drugs which have not been given a trial. In the hands of one observer we find that a certain drug has been used with the utmost satisfaction; others have found the same remedy to be a great disappointment. All physicians however agree that every method of treatment is aided by the administration of some remedy to relieve the pain and quiet the nervous system and Dr. W. S. Schultze expresses the opinion of thousands of practitioners when he says that Anti-kamnia Tablets should be given preference over all other remedies for the relief of the pain in all forms of rheumatism. These tablets can be purchased in any quantity. They are also unsurpassed in headaches, neuralgias and all pain. Ask for A K Tablets

GERMANS HOLD 2 WOMEN OF U. S.

By International News Service.

AMSTERDAM, May 27.—Two American women, Mrs. Harriet Boyce of San Francisco, and her daughter, have been sentenced to three weeks' imprisonment at Lindau, Bavaria, for insulting a German army officer, according to advices received here today.

A stay was granted until the women could appeal to the American Ambassador at Berlin, James W. Gerard. After being released Mrs. Boyce and her daughter went to Munich where they are awaiting the outcome of Mr. Gerard's intervention in their behalf. Bail in the sum of $5,000 was furnished for them by the American consul at Munich.

Many Germans Are Killed in Air Raid at Ostend

By BERNARD BELANCOURT,
Special Correspondent of the International News Service.

AMSTERDAM, May 27.—Allies' aviators have made another successful attack upon Ostend, causing extensive damage and inflicting heavy loss of life among its German occupants, according to advices received today by the Telegraaf.

During the latest raid the aviators are said to have destroyed a street car filled with German soldiers, killing fifty and wounding thirty.

Bombs dropped from the aeroplanes also damaged the harbor defense works and railroad station. A group of houses near the postoffice was completely wrecked.

FRENCH AIRSHIPS RAID RHINE VALLEY

By FRANKLIN P. MERRICK.
Special Correspondent of the International News Service.

PARIS, May 27.—A fleet of nineteen French aeroplanes raided the Rhine Valley of Germany today, carrying their attack 100 miles inside of the German border, says an official communique given out by the War Office.

This is the second great air raid by the allies within forty-eight hours, aerial attacks having been delivered all along the line on Tuesday, when more than 200 bombs and projectiles were hurled upon German supply depots.

The communique states that all German counter-attacks along the northern end of the battlefront have been repulsed.

At Ludwigshafen, in Bavaria, on the Rhine river, the great plant of the Badische Aniline Chemical Works was destroyed by French aviators. Ludwigshafen is [illegible] miles east of Metz.

POPE SCORES WAR METHODS

By International News Service.

ROME, May 27.—The Osservatore Romano, the Vatican organ, prints the text of the announced papal document in the form of a letter addressed to Serafino Vannutelli, head of the Sacred College.

The Pope says his plan was to call the consistory in June and address the whole college concerning church affairs, but that the mournful events have upset his plan. Hence the letter, "prompted by a desire of engendering a cessation of the present carnage which is dishonoring Europe."

In our first encyclical we exhorted the governments of belligerent nations to consider the quantity of blood and tears already shed and hasten to restore to the peoples the vital benefits of peace. We said: 'Let those in whose hands are the destinies of their peoples heed us.'

There certainly are other ways and other means for redressing their violated rights. Let them resort to these with a sincerely good conscience and a willing soul.

It is charity towards those in every nation, not our own interest, which prompts us to speak thus. Let none [illegible] our paternal [illegible] to fall void. But the voice of the [illegible] friend, we say it with sorrow and a broken heart, was not heeded. The war continues to stain Europe with blood, [illegible] on land and sea means that are offensive and contrary to the laws of humanity and international law.

HOW TO PREVENT ACID STOMACHS AND FOOD FERMENTATION

By a Stomach Specialist

As a specialist who has spent many years in the study and treatment of stomach troubles, I have been forced to the conclusion that most people who complain of stomach trouble possess stomachs that are absolutely healthy and normal. The real trouble, that which causes all the pain and difficulty, is excessive acid in the stomach, aggravated by food fermentation. Hyperacidity irritates the delicate lining of the stomach and food fermentation causes wind which distends the stomach abnormally, causing that full bloated feeling. Thus both acid and fermentation interfere with and retard the process of digestion. The stomach is usually healthy and normal, but irritated almost past endurance by these foreign elements—acid and wind. In all such cases—and they comprise over 90 per cent. of all stomach difficulties—the first and only step necessary is to neutralize the acid and stop the fermentation by taking in a little warm or cold water, immediately after eating, from one to two teaspoonfuls of bisurated magnesia, which is doubtless the best and only really effective antacid and food corrective known. The acid will be neutralized and the fermentation stopped almost instantly, and your stomach will at once proceed to digest the food in a healthy, normal manner. Be sure to ask your druggist for the bisurated magnesia, as I have found other forms utterly lacking in its peculiarly valuable properties.—F. J. G.

To Make Hairs Vanish From Face, Neck or Arms

Keep a little powdered delatone handy and when hairy growths appear make a paste with some of the powder and a little water, then spread over hairy surface. After 2 or 3 minutes rub off, wash the skin and it will be entirely free from hair or blemish. This simple treatment is unfailing, but care should be exercised to be sure and get genuine delatone, otherwise you may be disappointed.—Advertisement.

CAPTAIN'S OWN STORY OF HEROISM IN COLLISION OF LINER RYNDAM

NEW YORK, May 27.—Still dazed by their experience, seventy-eight women children and men, passengers of the Holland-American liner Ryndam were landed at Hoboken, N. J. early today by the tug Robert C. Millard. Awakened at 2:55 a. m. yesterday by the shock and confusion when the Ryndam was rammed by the fruit steamer Joseph J. Cuneo, the passengers were in terror until taken aboard the U. S. battleship South Carolina, which brought them into New York harbor early this morning.

Slowly and painfully, drawing more than thirty-six feet of water, the Ryndam crept past Sandy Hook shortly before midnight, retracing a course which she had traversed on Tuesday bound for Plymouth and Rotterdam.

Close behind her came the South Carolina, which had responded to the stricken liner's "S O S" when she was struck amidships by the Cuneo off Nantucket lightship.

The battleship Texas, which convoyed the Ryndam and the South Carolina, turned back at Ambrose lightship and returned to the Atlantic fleet off the New England coast.

CAPTAIN'S OWN STORY.

Captain Van Den Heuvel gave a concise and graphic story of the collision at sea. He said:

"First Officer Sierp and I, on the bridge shortly before 3 o'clock, noticed a thick coast mist sweeping toward us. Not two minutes after I commented on it there was a crash and a yell. We had seen no other vessel.

"Ordering the passengers awakened and the lifeboats lowered, I then had the bulkhead compartments closed and the holds sounded for water. I found the forward hold flooded and hold number 3 in danger.

"While some of the crew manned the pumps, others lowered the boats and helped the passengers over the side. There was no sign of panic, and the crew behaved admirably, I am glad to say.

WOMAN STICKS TO SHIP.

"Knowing that the Atlantic fleet was near, we began sending out wireless distress signals, and in a few moments we had got responses from an entire squadron.

"Meantime the passengers and such of the crew as were not necessary for navigation were put aboard the Cuneo, which at no time was in danger.

"Soon came the battleship South Carolina, which took the passengers off the Cuneo, and the Texas, which acted as convoy. The South Carolina stood by the Ryndam until we reached the Hook, when it was clear that we would be able to make port.

"It was calm weather until we reached Fire Island, when a heavy sea set in, but by then the danger was all over.

"Mrs. Milly Stenger, a Swiss woman and Dr. Homer E. Duncan, the ship's surgeon, surprised us greatly by refusing to leave the ship.

"Mrs. Stenger said: 'As long as the ship is big enough to hold you officers and forty men, it is big enough to hold one little woman. I intend to reach port on the Ryndam.' And she did. Dr. Duncan stayed because he said it was his duty to stay as long as there was a passenger aboard."

AWAKENED BY PETS.

The barking of the dog and the screams of the monkey of Miss Ida Fuch of Rio De Janeiro, Brazil, first apprised some of the passengers of the Ryndam of their danger when the liner was struck.

"I was sound asleep," said Miss Fuch, "when my dog and monkey woke me up with a tremendous racket. I hurried into the companionway and was told that we were in collision. Already women, children and men awakened by my pets were pouring out of their cabins, and I screamed repeatedly to arouse those who had not been awakened. We all went on deck. Soon we were taken off in boats to the Cuneo, and shortly after were transferred to the South Carolina."

Mrs. Martha Daly of No. [illegible] West Eighty-seventh street, New York, a first-cabin passenger, told a graphic story of the accident. She said:

"It was somewhere near 3 o'clock in the morning when I was wakened by a bumping noise on the side of the ship. It sounded as if we had hit some small object. In a few minutes I heard all sorts of noises outside and a steward knocked at my door and told me I had better dress and get out, as the ship had been hit by another steamer.

"I dressed quickly and ran up on deck. Many passengers were before me. It was very clear and we could see what was going on.

"We even could see the name of the vessel that struck us, the Cuneo. She was backing away slowly. Her bow was stove in. The stewards told us to get into the boats. We had time to get our baggage. We were transferred without accident to the Cuneo and later the South Carolina took us off.

CARPENTER FOR BROKEN LEG.

Aaron Yount, an optician of New York, bound for Rotterdam, slipped on the deck and broke his leg.

"Shall I call the surgeon, sir?" asked a solicitous steward. "No, call the carpenter," laughed Yount. It was a wooden leg.

When the Ryndam reached her berth for repairs a big hole in her side covered with a tarpaulin was the only sign of the accident. Her passengers will resume their interrupted voyage on the Ryndam when she is again seaworthy.

The upper bay was very thick today and the transfer of the Ryndam's passengers to the tug Millard was difficult because of the lowering tide and choppy sea.

WOMAN SOUGHT AFTER MURDER

LAWRENCE, May 27.—Marie Lombardo, twenty-seven, and her brother, Carmelo, are being sought in New England today, following the murder of Antonio Colletto, a boarder at the woman's lodging house, at No. 81 Lowell street.

Brother and sister were not at home when the victim was discovered. Colletto's skull was battered by blows from two clubs. He was hurried to the General Hospital but died without gaining consciousness.

Two clubs were found in the kitchen near the unconscious man. They are about two feet and a half long. One had been broken off short. The other was split lengthwise. In one of the clubs were steel plates, similar to those used to reinforce shoe-heels.

According to a nephew of the victim, a wallet containing $500, which Colletto had carried, had been stolen.

Lombardo and his sister were coming downstairs when they passed one of the boarders, Joseph Messina. They told him they were going to a store.

Messina went to the kitchen and found Colletto on the floor.

How Ladies Improve Looks!

"Many ladies old and young, suffer a round of torture with their nerves and many are so frail, thin and bloodless that their splendid features are lost sight of, while a vain attempt to conceal the angularity of the figure deceives no one but themselves and really excites the pity or ridicule of the world," said a well-known, widely experienced practising physician, in a recent lecture at a young ladies' college. "I do not mind exposing a little secret of mine to all such, as it can do no harm and may result in much happiness and health. It is simply this: Any thin, bloodless, nerve-tortured man or woman can become as fit as the fittest by taking regularly for several months an easily obtained pharmaceutical product known by the profession and pharmacists as three grain hypo-nucleine tablets, put up in sealed packages with directions for home use."—Advertisement.

EUGENIA KELLY CASE STARTS WAR BY WOMEN ON TANGO EVILS

Broadway haunts. This perhaps is due as much to the knowledge that their presence at this time is not wanted as to anything else.

Broadway is bitter at both him and Miss Glass. They are blamed for bringing all this trouble about. Nor is Miss Kelly wanted.

"Good things are good things so long as they go right," declared the manager of one resort just east of Broadway last night. "That is until they go wrong. You see Sweeny's went the limit until someone knifed one of the Belmont boys. Then you know what happened. Jack's was all right and the waiters beat up many a guy until they picked out someone who had a pull at headquarters, and he lost his all-night license for a while.

"I would not let that dame in here on a bet. She's dynamite, that's what she is."

A member of the Committee of Fourteen, probably Mrs. Moskowitz, will call upon Acting Mayor George McAneny today and ask that he call the heads of departments having the supervision and control of places of public amusement into conference for the purpose of working out a comprehensive scheme for attacking the evil.

Police Commissioner Arthur Woods stood pat on his declaration of yesterday that conditions on Broadway are good. Beyond that he would not discuss tango or cabarets.

PRAISE FOR MRS. KELLY.

Mrs. Moskowitz, in reviewing conditions in New York, declared that Mrs. Kelly had done New York a real public service. Val O'Farrell, whose connection with the Kelly case ceased when the girl went home, went even farther. He declared her to be a "hero mother, one of the few resolute enough to beat these devils off."

"The Kelly situation," said Mrs. Moskowitz, "has done good in that it has again brought to the attention of the public a condition that has long existed. The Committee of Fourteen has long fought this sort of thing. Today everyone in New York knows that these places exist as a constant menace to the homes of New York.

"It is nonsense to say that the police cannot act in this matter. They can act for the law gives them the power to act against places that are the resorts for disorderly persons. It is the same law that closed the once disorderly Haymarket. The situation is bad, but not new."

Val O'Farrell said that there are perhaps 1,500 men in New York who make their living dancing in and hanging about the tango shops. Of this number probably 20 per cent live off the earnings of women. They have flocked here from all parts of the country in the last few months mainly because conditions were becoming tight in Chicago and because money was declared to be easier here.

"They are coming here from Atlantic City, and all sorts of places," he said. "Why at the court hearing on Tuesday there was a group there from Atlantic City in a high-powered racing car. Oh, yes, they travel in style sometimes. Who pays for it is another story."

500 SAVED FROM SUNKEN TRIUMPH

By HERBERT TEMPLE.

Special Correspondent of the International News Service.

LONDON, May 27.—The Turkish submarine which sank the British battleship Triumph in the Gulf of Saros, off the northern shores of the Gallipoli peninsula, passed under the great Anglo-French fleet in the Dardanelles when she steamed out to make the attack.

The submarine steamed from a Turkish base between the Dardanelles Narrows and the sea of Marmora, which made it necessary for the underwater craft to make her way beneath the French and British warships which are bombarding the Turkish forts in the Dardanelles and the Turkish land positions on the peninsula.

It was reported unofficially that about 500 of the men on the Triumph were saved. The battleship carried a crew of about 700.

The battleship was struck in a vital part and sank in less than ten minutes, which makes the saving of a majority of her crew an outstanding feature of the operation.

WAS BUILT IN 1902.

The Triumph, which was commanded by Captain Maurice S. Fitzmaurice, carried four ten-inch guns, fourteen 7.5 inch guns, fourteen 14-pounders and four 6-pounders. Her tonnage was 11,985 and she was built in 1902.

With the sinking of the Triumph, five allied battleships have been accounted for in the Dardanelles by Turkish gunfire, mines or torpedoes. Of these losses, the British have sustained four—the Triumph, the Ocean, the Irresistible and the Goliath. One French ship has been sunk—the Bouvet. In addition, several other allied battleships have at various times been struck by Turkish shells and forced to retire from the fighting in the waterway.

Since the present war broke out, the Triumph has been in operation in both far eastern and European waters. As flagship of the British Asiatic squadron, she was reported damaged by the shell fire of the Tsing-Tau forts.

ACTIVE IN SHELLING.

Later the Triumph returned to European waters, and early in the present year began operations with the other units of the allied fleet against the Dardanelles. In the latter part of April the Triumph bombarded the Turkish trenches on the western end of the Gallipoli peninsula and afterwards went into the Dardanelles to search the trenches from a different angle.

Here she came under the fire of a Turkish howitzer battery on the Asiatic shore, which dropped sixteen shells around her and threw three missiles on board. Little damage was done by the shells, however, and only two men, a stoker and a bluejacket, were wounded. The battleship silenced the Turkish battery before retiring.

A few days later while landing operations were proceeding the Triumph, with other warships, in addition to covering the landing, bombarded the forts in the Dardanelles to prevent re-enforcements reaching the Turks from the Sea of Marmora. The Triumph was credited, in the official reports, with having set fire to the town of Maidos during this bombardment.

Cossacks Sabre Two Companies of Turks

By International News Service.

PETROGRAD, May 27.—Caucasus headquarters transmits the following report to the War Office:

"On May 24 in the direction of the Black Sea littoral there was the customary artillery firing. In the region of Karaderbent our troops repulsed an attempt of the Turks to assume the offensive. During this fight 200 Cossacks charged the Turks and sabred two entire companies. Our troops occupied Mirandab."

WOMEN KILLED IN ZEPPELIN RAID

By HERBERT TEMPLE.

Special Correspondent of the International News Service.

LONDON, May 27.—A fleet of Zeppelin airships delivered an attack against the British works defending the mouth of the Thames River early today, but were driven off by anti-aircraft guns and British aeroplanes. The attack centred about South End-on-Sea, Essex, at the northern side of the Thames estuary, thirty-five miles from the centre of London.

Twenty incendiary bombs were dropped at South End, causing several fires and killing two women.

The Admiralty issued the following statement:

"A Zeppelin visited the east coast of South End last night. The casualties were two women killed and one man injured. The damage done was to material. The Zeppelin, upon being pursued by our air-craft, fled toward the east."

Passengers arriving from South End by train said that the first Zeppelin seen circled over the city for some time before disappearing in a northeasterly direction. A second Zeppelin appeared later and rained bombs for half an hour.

There were reported to be four Zeppelins in the fleet, which was first sighted at 11:15 last night. The great dirigibles manoeuvred, keeping high in the air, but at the climax of the attack they descended until they were within range of the anti-aircraft guns.

It was reported from Sheerness that a Zeppelin was seen speeding toward London.

This was the sixteenth air raid of the Germans over the east coast. The Zeppelins are believed to have crossed the North Sea from Zeebrugge.

This strong emphasis on outing clothes is a culmination of the general trend of years past toward the survival of those styles which are most practical.

No styles this season are so tight, so loose, so narrow or so long as to handicap women in the struggle for equal wages, equal suffrage or equal anything.

The fact that most American Fashionables will play at home this summer has been a large influence in determining these new outdoor fashions.

LINEN is omnipresent in the new sport clothes. The new cotton gabardine holds a strong place in tubskirts. There are many, many suits of Palm Beach cloth, and dresses, blouses, coats, suits, hats, parasols of pongee. Golfine, glove silk, cretonne, stockinette, crepe de chine and taffeta are all exploited for these new loafing clothes.

Short wide skirts; pockets on everything; smocking, rubber soles; knockabout hats.

Below, its prototype—the rubber-bottom brogue, purely for sports.

PALMER IS FREED FROM HOSPITAL

PROVIDENCE, May 27.—Amos D. Palmer, "the Rhode Island Harry Thaw," who was convicted sixteen years ago of killing his wife by shooting, was today released from the Butler Hospital on the order of Supreme Court Justice Walter B. Vincent.

[illegible] the jury without [illegible] found Palmer guilty of killing his wife, but recommended clemency. Palmer was ordered to be confined in the Butler Hospital, which is a private institution patronized by wealthy patients.

Palmer's detention has been all along a veritable joke. He came and went as he pleased and when he pleased and for years he has been a familiar figure as he walked about Providence without even an attendant.

Twice before he made efforts through his influential lawyer, General Charles R. [illegible], prominent Republican politician, but it was not until today that he succeeded in getting the Supreme Court to order him free of all restraint.

The first the hospital authorities heard of the court's decision was from Palmer himself.

CRETIC BRINGS MANY AMERICANS

Fair young American passengers arriving on Cretic from war-ridden Europe, and type of submarine torpedo for which they kept an outlook during the voyage from Italy to the United States. Left to right, Esther Bartlett, Dorothy Harding, Madeline Fiske, Phoebe Randall, Beatrice Fiske.

[illegible] White Star liner Cretic [illegible] in port early today. [illegible] in response to [illegible] from the [illegible] Holland-American liner Rotterdam. There were many girls in the party [illegible] looked eagerly on the [illegible] for submarines.

[illegible] The Cretic cleared from Genoa by way of Naples, Palermo, Gibraltar and the Azores. She carried [illegible] first class, [illegible] second class and [illegible] third class passengers.

Among the [illegible] passengers were Mrs. [illegible] Bartlett, her daughter Esther and her mother, Mrs. [illegible]; Dr. [illegible] Harding, Mrs. Harding and their daughters, [illegible] and Dorothy; Mrs. William [illegible] Randall and her daughter, Phoebe, and the Misses Madeline and Beatrice Fiske. All admitted they were glad to leave war-ridden Europe for peaceful Boston, U. S. A.

ABANDON FOREIGN HOMES.

The Bartletts have been living for three years in Florence. They left Boston about four years ago to take up residence in Europe and will re-establish their residence here, probably in Brookline.

Dr. Harding's family has been in Florence for the last year. They barely caught the boat. The Randalls have been touring Italy.

Among the notable passengers was Mons. Archbishop [illegible], who comes here to assume the head of the Greek Catholic Church in America in place of Bishop [illegible]. When the reporters asked the archbishop for an interview he told them that it was against the rules of his church for him to talk with women.

Lieutenant Bradford Barnette of the U. S. S. Tennessee, which has been doing relief work in the war zone, arrived and left the Cretic at once for the Charlestown navy yard. He came home on account of ill health.

Others who arrived were H. S. Gray and wife of Providence and Dr. H. L. Fisher of Northfield, who have been in Egypt for several years. They reported that stories of trouble in Egypt were untrue. They said when they left there were 50,000 Australian troops there and that Egypt was firmly held by England.

MISSIONARIES IN PERIL.

Another passenger was [illegible] [illegible] for a Chicago department store. He reported that he had managed to get out of [illegible] [illegible] Where he left that historic city he [illegible] remaining guest in [illegible] which at this season of the year usually has 600 guests.

There were also on board thirty American missionaries, returning from various points in Asia and Africa. Owing to disturbed conditions on account of the war many of them had great difficulty in getting home and in some instances [illegible] great fear for the safety of those left behind to carry on the missionary work.

RECIPE TO STOP DANDRUFF

This Home Made Mixture Stops Dandruff and Falling Hair and Aids Its Growth

To a half pint of water add:
Bay Rum . . . . 1 oz.
Barbo Compound . . . . . a small box
Glycerine . . . . ¼ oz.

These are all simple ingredients that you can buy from any druggist at very little cost, and mix them yourself. Apply to the scalp once a day for two weeks, then once every other week until all the mixture is used. A half pint should be enough to rid the head of dandruff and kill the dandruff germs. It stops the hair from falling out, and relieves itching and scalp diseases.

Although it is not a dye, it acts upon the hair roots and will darken streaked, faded, gray hair in ten or fifteen days. It promotes the growth of the hair and makes harsh hair soft and glossy.

Boston Heirs Lose $131,000

LOS ANGELES, May 27.—The entire [illegible] estate of Peter [illegible] of [illegible], for which six nephews and nieces of Boston contended, goes to [illegible] adopted daughter, Mrs. [illegible] of Los Angeles, by decision of Supreme Court Justice [illegible].

HOLD PARDON OF HALL JUSTIFIED

The special legislative committee which investigated the pardon of John A. Hall, the Southbridge bank [illegible], who died in California while the investigation was still in progress, filed a brief report with the Legislature today practically justifying the pardon.

The report upholds the Board of Parole for refusing to recommend the pardon for Hall, but it stipulates that new evidence and a new condition of facts was presented to the Governor's Council, which heard the case and granted the pardon fully [illegible] months after it was first heard by the Parole Board. Along this line the report says:

"We further find that a different set of facts, conditions and evidence was presented to the Pardon Committee of the Council than was presented to the Board of Parole, [illegible] change in conditions and [illegible] in the [illegible] intervening months."

No [illegible] is made on Hall's death, but the report says:

"It came in testimony before your committee that the controlling reason given by those of the council who voted for the pardon was this: That Mr. Hall's physical condition was such that further confinement might jeopardize his reason or his life. Also that he had been sufficiently punished."

The special committee also recommends legislation which would empower the heads of criminal institutions to recommend executive clemency for those "friendless and forgotten prisoners" who have repented of their misdeeds.

Women May Now Expend Money in Vote Campaign

The women of Massachusetts are now permitted by law to serve upon political committees and to expend money for the advancement of their Equal Suffrage cause.

Governor Walsh has signed a bill granting them that privilege.

Under previous laws, political committees in Massachusetts were limited to male members. It was also previously illegal for a woman to expend money for a political purpose.

The new law is regarded as an effective instrument to secure Equal Suffrage at the next State election.

HAVE BEAUTIFUL HAIR.

You may have the most beautiful hair, long, thick, soft and glossy, by using a home-made tonic made from one-half ounce Concentrated [illegible] Barbo and one pint soft, clear water. This simple mixture applied to the scalp two or three times a week develops in a wonderfully short time an abundant growth of [illegible] hair. It is the most wonderful preparation known for the hair, and never fails to produce results.

It doesn't have any oil in it to make the hair [illegible] or greasy, and is free from alcohol and [illegible] found in most hair tonics now on the market.

It is a very inexpensive tonic, and you'll be pleased with the wonderful change that it makes in your hair after a few treatments.

Start using it at once to get quick results. Well-stocked druggists supply Harwood powder.—Advertisement.

HOW TO SEND SERIES "D" VOTES

In order to avoid mistakes in sending in Series "D" coupons, the Contest Manager advises every candidate to read and re-read the following advice.
The important thing to remember is:

DOUBLE VOTE VALUE WILL BE GIVEN FOR ALL COMPLETE CONSECUTIVE SETS.

A "consecutive set" consists of 15 coupons, one for each day in the series, for example, one coupon of Series "D" No. 1, one coupon of Series "D" No. 2, one coupon of Series "D" No. 3, etc., up to and including Series "D" No. 15.

For every complete "consecutive set" of 15 consecutive coupons, as described above, DOUBLE VOTE VALUE will be given.

The regular face value of these 15 coupons is 33 votes, but if sent in, in one complete set, as described, within one week after the close of Series "D," they will count DOUBLE.

Of course, it is clear that the more "consecutive sets" that a contestant can get, the greater his advantage, because of the DOUBLE VOTE VALUE for "consecutive sets."

After gathering your votes and when arranging them before submitting them to the Contest Editor, do your sorting in this way: Place all coupons marked "D No. 1" in one pile, count them carefully, wrap them separately in one bundle and mark on the outside of the package:

My name is....................My address is....................
....................No. coupons Series "D" No. 1 contained herein.

Do precisely the same with Series "D" No. 2 coupons, the same with Series "D" No. 3 coupons, the same with Series "D" No. 4 coupons, and so on with each number up to and including Series "D" No. 15 coupon. In other words, after you have done this, you will have 15 separate and distinct bundles of coupons, each carefully wrapped and each carefully labeled with your name and address and the number of coupons of that particular series contained therein.

For each consecutive set contained in these bundles, you will receive DOUBLE their face value.

Face value ONLY will be given for coupons which do not make up consecutive sets.

The time limit for sending in Series "D" coupons is 5 o'clock sharp on Tuesday, June 1st. All votes must be delivered to the Contest Headquarters at No. 5 Winthrop Square, before that hour on that day or show mailing postmark at or before that time.

Many candidates were late in turning in their Series "C" coupons. There is no excuse or reason for this, and it seems too bad that any candidate should lose a single vote credit because of neglecting to get the coupons in within the time set.

To correct some of the mistakes which have been made in sending in coupons, special attention is called to the following. Have name and address and number of votes contained therein marked plainly on each bundle.

It is well to have an extra memorandum (of votes) inside each bundle.

Do not mix the votes of different series when sending coupons. At the end of each series and during the week allowed to gather and send in votes, please arrange to turn them in in one lot, instead of (as some did in Series "C") sending in three or four bundles one day, two or three bundles the next day and one the third day, etc., during each of the seven days allowed. This is entirely unnecessary. Send together in one lot, if possible.

Send correspondence in separate letters. Do not enclose letters asking for information with vote bundles.

Have postage fully prepaid.

Address all bundles of votes to American Expositions Contest, P. O. Box 3047, Boston, Mass. Do NOT send votes addressed to Summer street.

"Mary Moreland" Stolen from Wagon

The driver of an express wagon rushed into Court square police station today and cried: "They've stolen 'Mary Moreland.'" Calmed down, he explained that a package of books entitled "Mary Moreland" had been stolen from his team while he was buying a cigar. The books were found in a second-hand store.

Governor Reported as Further Improved

Governor Walsh was further improved today from the attack of tonsilitis which has confined him to his room at the Hotel Lenox.

"The Governor had another good night and is considerably improved," said his secretary, Thomas H. Connelly, this morning. "We expect that the Governor will return to the State House this week."

SAYS MRS. BARKER LENT TO WHITNEY

The late Theodore D. Whitney, the Boston merchant whose will is contested by his widow, Mrs. Annie [illegible] Whitney, was loaned over $[illegible] by Mrs. Amy H. Barker up to 1907 for the Whitney business, according to testimony at the will trial today by Phineas Hubbard, executor of the will and former partner of Mr. Whitney.

Mr. Whitney left about $[illegible]. About half of this is left in trust to his widow, Mrs. Annie [illegible] Whitney, with the other half going direct between Mr. Whitney's sister, Mrs. Carrie W. Myrick, and one of his friends, Mrs. Amy H. Barker, a Brookline widow. Mrs. Whitney raises the questions, in her contest, of proper execution of the will, soundness of Mr. Whitney's mind and of undue influence by Mrs. Barker.

TELLS OF STORE PROFITS.

Mr. Hubbard testified that Mr. Whitney's store did a business of $512,000 in the bookkeeping year from 1912 to 1913 and of $[illegible] in the year from 1913 to 1914.

Mr. Hubbard said that Mr. Whitney took a profit out of $26,000 in 1912-13 and $21,[illegible] in 1913-14.

The largest profit Mr. Whitney took out for himself was $29,000 in 1907.

Regarding the loans by Mrs. Barker to Mr. Whitney, Mr. Hubbard testified that, when he entered the concern himself in 1889, there was an item on the books of a note for $6,152 for money loaned Whitney by Mrs. Myrick, his sister.

He continued that the firm was indebted to Mrs. Barker for three notes, one of $4,100 was made between March 1 and September 1, 1889. The others were $[illegible] on May 27, 1905, and $2,000 on January 8, 1907.

LOANED WHEN MONEY WAS TIGHT

The $9,000 came at a time when money was tight and was used to reduce the concern's bank loan.

Miss Laura A. Whitney, niece of the testator, was recalled for cross-examination. She receives $5,000 by the will. Yesterday she failed to recall who deposited a total of $11,000 to her account in a bank. Former Congressman Joseph F. O'Connell, counsel for Mrs. Whitney, asked her if her memory was refreshed on that point today. It was not.

Miss Mary Mahoney, maid for Mrs. Barker for five years at Brookline and Hampton, N. H., testified she never saw Mr. Whitney kiss Mrs. Barker.

Swiss Girl Refusing Dock Bridal Is Held

Miss Marguerite Von Aux of Geneva, Switzerland, a first cabin passenger on the Cretic, which arrived in port early today, is being held up by the government authorities pending an investigation. Miss Von Aux told the authorities that she was the fiancee of Bernard Siebelin, also a first cabin passenger, formerly of Geneva, now a ranchman in Spokane, Washington. She said they were about to be married in Geneva, but the sudden outbreak of the Italian war, which meant a blockade for Switzerland, made it imperative for them to leave before the legal time limit expired on their Swiss marriage intentions. There were 30 missionaries on the steamer and the authorities offered to marry the couple on the dock. Miss Von Aux refused, saying she wanted a church wedding. She will be held in care of the Boston Y. W. C. A.

Permanent Machinery Exhibit.

The Boston Industrial Development Board today announced that the New England Association of Commercial Engineers would establish in a new building at Oliver and Franklin streets a permanent exhibition of machinery supplies.

Get Judgement for Wives Against Dix

ALBANY, N. Y., May 27.—A judgment of $514.50 against John A. Dix, former Governor, has been entered in the Albany County Circuit Court in favor of Berry Brothers & Company, London wine firm. The complaint alleges that "Goods, principally wines," were furnished and that no part of the account has been paid.

How France Cares for Her Fighting Men

A nation at war is most particular when it orders supplies and remedies for its fighting men. Certain high standards are insisted upon, and great care is taken that every requirement is observed. When the French Government, through its Minister of War, ordered 200,000 boxes of Cadum ointment for the Army and Navy, its action at once made Cadum a remedy of the standard class, and was official recognition of its remarkable healing and curative virtues. Cadum ointment is not a secret preparation. The name of every ingredient of which it is made is printed on every box. It has proved a blessing to many who have suffered for years from irritating, stubborn and disfiguring skin troubles, such as eczema, pimples, eruptions, sores, ringworm, scaly skin, chafing, etc. Trial box 10c; large box 25c. 'Rube' Dance to Be Held in Charlestown Mishawum Hall, Charlestown, promises to be the scene of much merrymaking tomorrow night. Miss Nellie Welch, one of the most prominent young women of the Bunker Hill district, will be the guest of honor at an old-fashioned "rube" dance. Over 250 couples will attend in "rube" and other costumes. Prizes are to be awarded for the most comical. Hurdy-gurdies will furnish music. Miss Anna M. Barrett and Miss M. E. Mahoney are in charge of the entertainment.

Police Routed by Unemployed Army

WICHITA, Kan., May 27.—Sixty unemployed men, drawn here by advertisements in Eastern newspapers for harvest hands, clashed with the police and put them to rout. It is estimated that about 1,500 idle men have come to Wichita and vicinity. Many are destitute and large bands have taken possession of freight trains, refusing to pay fare or get off. So far no arrests have taken place, as the police would have difficulty in caring for such an army of unemployed.

ORLEANS VOTES $10,000 FOR ROADS

ORLEANS, May 27.—At a special town meeting a committee was empowered to spend $10,000 of the town's tax income on roads and sidewalks.

Chairman Dyer of the Selectmen stated that this amount would be available from direct taxes after paying the appropriation made at the last annual meeting and that the corporation taxes would probably increase the amount considerably. It was voted that the committee should keep expenditures within the limit necessary to maintain the usual $2 tax rate.

BUSINESS MEN LAUD AMERICAN'S BATTLE FOR BETTER STREETS

William H. Ames, president of the Massachusetts Automobile Club and leading Boston business man, today voices the demand of himself and the club for immediate action in improving the condition of the streets of Boston.

"Better streets for Boston" is what the club wants.

This is the keynote of the AMERICAN'S campaign for an immediate start in street betterment in this city. It is what every Bostonian wants done.

Another prominent business man who wants something done at once is Benjamin C. Lane. Mr. Lane is also president of the United Improvement Association.

Immediate action is the unanimous demand of Bostonians. President Ames says:

"The streets of Boston in my opinion have been allowed to get run down and are now in very bad shape.

"The principal trouble, as I think, is, that after good streets are constructed, they are permitted to get full of holes, and then there is nothing to do but rebuild them, whereas had they been watched and immediately repaired, they would last almost indefinitely.

INSPECTION NEEDED.

"There should be a force of street inspectors. They should inspect the streets and when depressions are seen, before these defects have become gaping holes, they should be marked for immediate repair.

"A small force of inspectors would help correct this evil in the future, and the expense of keeping up the city's streets would be cut to a considerable extent.

"Our club is in favor absolutely of better streets and of immediate action looking to this end.

"This is not the time to be trying to place the blame, but it is the time for action.

"Something should be done at once.

"For some time I have been trying to have the road commissioners of the towns of Boston adopt a section system similar to that in use on the railroads. In this system one or two men, according to the size of the section, would have supervision over the road in that section. The town would supply them with tools and materials to make repairs, so that as the holes and gullies start, they can be immediately fixed.

"Good streets should be a matter of civic pride with all Bostonians. Good streets are absolutely necessary for the city, and it is now the moment for real action in this direction."

POOR STREETS COSTLY.

President Lane says:

"The city's streets should be attended to at once. There are thousands of spots that are worn out in the macadam streets, in the asphalt, in the parkways, just worn out. They should be repaired so that a man's eye teeth won't be jarred out if his auto passes over these frequent bad spots."

These and other business men agree that good streets will prove a good investment for Boston. Lamentable street conditions are costing auto and motor truck owners and others many thousands of dollars.

In brief, bad streets are a mighty costly thing.

You can help in the efforts of the AMERICAN and of Bostonians generally to get better streets for the city.

On Friday night next, at 8 p. m. there will be a public meeting at City Hall, at which better streets for Boston will be urged.

You can help make this meeting so emphatically representative of Boston's sentiments of this issue that all quibbling, all time-wasting will end and the proper parties will get busy and really begin improving the streets.

You can help by first attending, and second, making yourself heard.

ACTION WANTED.

Insist on making yourself heard in favor of immediate action.

Make it plain that Bostonians want no more delays, but want action, and that at once.

The greater the attendance, the stronger and more convincing will be the protest against present conditions, and the more vigorous the demand that something be done at once.

Insist that politics be eliminated from the discussion. Insist that the great need for relief be met by instant action.

By doing these things you will be benefiting Boston in an all-important way.

The city needs your help now for better streets. They are in very bad condition; those who know say they are the worst streets of any large city anywhere.

Boston's ambition should be to have the best streets of any city in the world.

By all means attend Friday night's meeting and put in a [illegible] [illegible] against the [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] the pavements.

You will feel the better for having done your share, and when better streets come, Boston will be immeasurably better off for what you have done.

"WHY," said Celestia," do you make me go with you?"

"It's my duty," said Stilliter, "you can't live in the woods at the mercy of the first young man that comes along."

"He was going to take me to New York."

"Well, so am I; by the next train, but look here, you seem to talk rationally enough," he laughed, good-naturedly. "You'll forgive me, but I took you for a demented person—that costume, you know, those jewels in your hair. You wouldn't expect a sane person to dress that way for a fishing trip. Won't you tell me who you are?"

"I am Celestia," she said. I come from heaven to make the world happier." She spoke these words in a clear rather loud voice, so that the two guides turned to look at her, and the younger of them having looked, sheepishly pulled off his hat, and during the rest of the march held it in his hand.

He didn't quite believe that she came from heaven. He didn't quite believe that she didn't. He proposed to take no chances. At least she was the most beautiful creature he had ever seen, or ever hoped to see.

Stilliter passed over the question of Celestia's origin; he appeared to accept it as a matter of course.

"I hope you will succeed," he said. "I could stand being happier myself. Won't you tell me how you propose to go about the matter?"

"If you like," she said; and then for a long time she talked reform and politics to him, exactly as he had taught her to talk them, with the same eager, simple faith and serene conviction. He pretended to be immensely interested in her schemes. But he doubted their practicality. And he tested her with numerous questions, to which during the long years of her training he had taught her the answers.

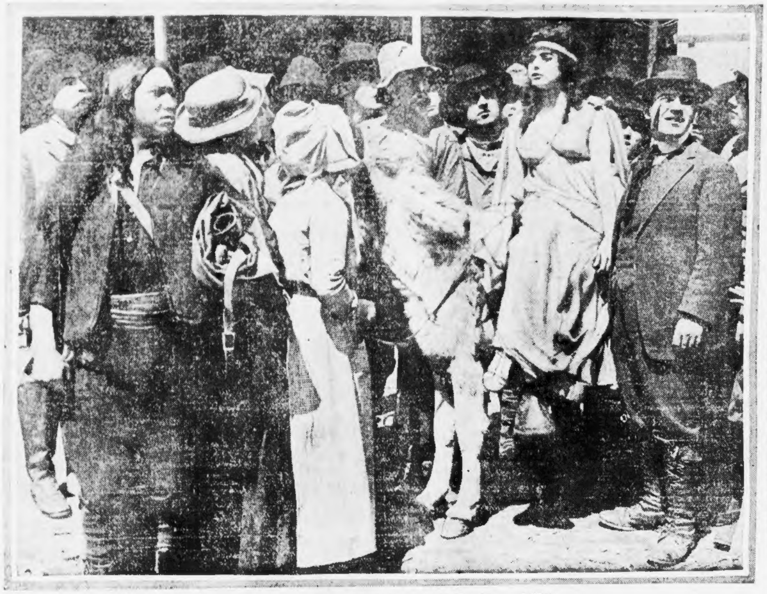
Toward the end of their conversation he made less and less opposition to her theories. He began to accept and to agree with them. And in three-quarters of an hour she had performed the miracle of converting him to his own beliefs.

If he was amused, he was also excited and exhilarated. "She plays her part to perfection," he thought.

"Well," he said at last, "I believe you are right. Whether you can put your schemes in execution is another matter. Talk to the guides; tell them what you intend to do. See if you can convince them."

So while the party rested at a spring, Celestia talked smoothly and earnestly to the guides. The younger never took his eyes off her face; but the elder, after a while, looked only at the ground, and occasionally nodded.

As for the old Indian, he, too, listened, and it seemed as if some feeling akin to remorse was gnawing at his leathery heart, for he was seen to cast sidelong glances at the bundle he had made of Tommy's clothes, and later when the party had resumed its way, it seemed as if the bundle had become too heavy for him, for when he thought no one was looking he cast it from him into a thicket.



Celestia arriving at "Four Corners" with Professor Stilliter

This was an act of conscience. He had stolen. That couldn't be helped; but at least he would not profit by it. However, I regret to say, a few days later the old man returned for the clothes and sold them.

"Well," thought Stilliter, as he followed Celestia and the guides, "we've a nucleus of votes against the time when we need them," and being a psychologist, he wondered why the younger guide kept looking at Celestia and the elder didn't.

"She works like a charm," he thought, "and she is my workmine."

And in a way she was, but the scientist took too much credit.

Left to herself, Celestia must have been a force for good.

Toward the end of the long tramp there had to be frequent rests, for Celestia was getting very tired, and when at last they reached Four Corners it was only just in time to catch the New York Express.

During the few minutes there were to spare, however, Celestia gathered all the crowd there was to gather and made the deepest and most lasting impression that had ever been made upon that woodland community.

Something of interest happens in the midst of a remote wilderness, and within a few hours the incident "written up" with details appears in a newspaper. That this is possible is owing nine-tenths to good management and one-tenth to good luck.

"Johnny" Cumberland of the York American, had just stepped off the Montreal Express at Four-Corners for a few days' rest and holiday in the woods. He had earned this by tracking down, through a period of six weeks, and causing the arrest of a certain gentleman who had been using the United States mail to separate unsophisticated people from their money.

"I want to go somewhere for a few days," said Johnny to the City Editor, "where there is no news."

Zoe---The Story of a Great Love

(Copyright, Associated Newspapers, Ltd. Serial rights in U. S. A. held by International News Service.)

By CORALIE STANTON and HEATH HOSKEN.

"I SAY, old girl, steady on there!" exclaimed Brooke as they took a sharp corner on one wheel. "You'll have us over if you aren't a bit careful!"

It was this that suddenly pulled her up and brought her down to the ordinary plane of existence. She took in the reins and forced herself to watch the cob.

Meanwhile Brooke chattered on gaily, making a variety of plans for the future—that long-delayed holiday to the South of France which had been the dream of the last two years—their second honeymoon, as he called it. They were to start next week, he told her. Already he had engaged rooms at the Riviera Palace at Monte Carlo, and a compartment on the Riviera express. He was full of his plans, like a boisterous schoolboy on the eve of a well-deserved and long anticipated holiday.

"And I want you, Di, to be queen of the whole thing," he said. "Your word is to be law. Anything and everything you want is yours for the asking. I am your slave. You are my empress. Oh, my love, what a wonderful thing it is to have you all for my very own! I wonder if there are two such perfectly happy people in all the wide world as you and I?"

What a hideous mockery it all was! What a veritable devil's farce! The woman heard his words, but they awakened no other response in her heart but one of annoyed indifference, if not something more nearly approaching to actual antipathy.

"Aren't you glad, little girl?" he whispered, with all the warm ardor of a lover thrilling his deep, gruff voice. "Tell me that you're glad!"

"Of course I'm glad," she answered irritably, and struck the cob viciously with the whip. "It will be splendid, of course. And you are awfully good to me, Godfrey—much too good!"

Her answer satisfied the man; he did not demand much in the way of expression. His was a reserved nature, and reserve and self-control were the twin god in his life. He worshipped them even in his love passages.

"And don't forget, my sweetheart," he said, "that you can spend as much money as you like. Buy your-yourself all the pretty frocks you want. You've got your check, haven't you? Ten thousand ought to go a long way with a dear little economist like you, but if you want more—well," he laughed happily, as indeed he could afford to—"there's more where that came from, you know.

"And you've had a beast of a time all the while I've been making it out there, under the sun, with the niggers—a beast of a time; but you've come through it like a brick. Now it's only fair for you to have your time; and, by Jove, little girl, I'm going to see you get it!"

She tried to murmur some appropriate thanks, for she really felt very grateful to this great giant of a man, who had, for some inexplicable reason, chosen to enthrone her as the goddess of his life and his love and his destiny, and she could not help wondering, with a shudder of fear, what would happen if he were to know the truth, as assuredly he must do sooner or later, despite all that she could do, despite the almost superhuman efforts of Noel Crawley to maintain the gigantic lie of her life.

What would he have said had he known that the check she had wheedled out of him was now in the possession of Noel Crawley? But that was only one of a hundred questions that were hammering on her brain for answers. But the paramount one was the staggering enigma presented to her excited and overwrought brain in the announcement of Godfrey that he had actually seen the picture.

He had said so—stated it as the most ordinary fact and yet—her brain refused to grasp the staggering announcement. Something had happened. She would have sold her very soul to know. Why had not Noel come down—or, at any rate, communicated with her?

THE BEAUTIFUL DIANA GROWS DESPERATE

By the time they had reached the Laurels she had grown desperate. At all costs she must communicate with him. She must know, or she would go mad.

She could not breathe freely until she had escaped from her husband to her own apartments.

Dinner was at half-past eight. It would be a dinner, and she must steel herself to face Godfrey's somewhat clumsy love-making for the rest of the evening. If anything was to be done, it must be done in time between now and then; at least she had that to herself.

Godfrey kissed her in the drawing-room and told her for the hundredth time how much he loved her, and how sublimely happy he was, and then went out to inspect some new electric lighting plant which was being fixed up outside.

"I'm going to write a few letters," she told him; "and then I shall dress."

"All right, my love," he answered; "run along. I'll come and look you up in an hour's time."

An hour—a blessed hour all to herself. She flung herself into a chair, and tried hard to think. Her maid interrupted her almost immediately; but she dismissed her at once.

"I've got a headache and am going to lie down for half an hour," she said. "I'll ring for you when I am ready."

To Be Continued Tomorrow.

WAS MISERABLE COULDN'T STAND

Testifies She Was Restored to Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Lackawanna, N. Y.—"After my first child was born I felt very miserable and could not stand on my feet. My sister-in-law wished me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and my nerves became firm, appetite good, step elastic, and I lost that weak, tired feeling. That was six years ago and I have had three fine healthy children since. For female troubles I always take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Campound and it works like a charm. I do all my own work."—Mrs. A. F. KREAMER, 1574 Electric Avenue, Lackawanna, N. Y.

The success of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, is unparalleled. It may be used with perfect confidence by women who suffer from displacements, inflammation, ulceration, tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, bearing-down feeling, flatulency, indigestion, dizziness, or nervous prostration. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the standard remedy for female ills.

Women who suffer from those distressing ills peculiar to their sex should be convinced of the ability of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to restore their health by the many genuine and truthful testimonials we are constantly publishing in the newspapers.

We challenge anyone to name even one other medicine that has been so successful in relieving women's suffering as has Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

How to Be Beautiful and How to Keep Beautiful

Miss Inez Plummer

By INEZ PLUMMER.

Now Playing at the Cort Theatre.

HOW to be beautiful, how to keep beautiful—these two questions are as old as the heart of woman. They never fail to interest; perhaps the answers never fail to arouse hope. If the old story of our nursery days were true and if the good fairy bringing only one gift came to earth, I wonder if any woman would choose any gift but beauty. I wonder, but in my own mind I am quite satisfied.

If there were some royal path to beauty for those who are unbeautiful, and if some woman had discovered it, I wonder if she would point out the path. Again, I wonder. I am not sure. But because I am not quite positive there is no royal path, or if there is my own feet have never led me to it, I am willing to tell what little I may know about the way to achieve beauty and, having achieved it, the way to preserve beauty.

In the first place, at the risk of being trite, I am going to repeat an old saying from the copy books—you know which one I mean—the one about "pretty is that pretty does." Never was there a truer saying. But I interpret it rather differently from the way in which the writer of it meant it to be taken. "Pretty is as pretty does," because it takes work to be pretty. I don't believe that a lazy woman can ever really be beautiful. Just keep one's self looking as fresh and pretty as possible requires much time and thought.

The question is, what things are necessary to be beautiful? My first answer may sound blunt. It is cleanliness. "But all nice women are clean," will come the aggrieved answer. Perhaps they are, and perhaps not. I mean more by cleanliness than is usually implied in the word. Of course, I mean the ordinary cleanliness of a skin which is bathed so often and so carefully that it is always fresh and soft; of hair which is kept free from dust and oil; and of nails which are dainty and of teeth which are never neglected. Such cleanliness is in itself beautiful.

But I mean more than that. I mean a body which is clean inside as well as on the surface. That means, of course, perfect health. There are some women, perhaps, who cannot attain it, but I am not writing for invalids. I am writing for the average, normal woman. She, if she gives it attention enough, may have good health and the beauty which goes with it. The two things to which she must pin her faith are exercise and good food.

Everyone who talks about being beautiful always talks about exercise, but many people do not practice what they preach. It is said, indeed, that most actresses and singers never exercise in the open air. I cannot say about them. I can only speak for myself. There is never a day when I do not take a brisk walk out of doors.

Walking in the fresh air serves many purposes of beauty. It makes the circulation better, it fills the lungs with clean air, it makes the eyes bright and it helps digestion. More than all, it is the first aid to a shapely, graceful figure. Perhaps some women are predestined to be lumpish, but I think anyone not accursed by fate can have a reasonably good figure.

In regard to a proper diet, it is hard to write authoritatively. Some rules can be laid down, but they are of the "glittering generality" order, I am afraid. It is easy enough to say: "Eat a sufficiency of good, nourishing food, but do not overeat," but the question arises: "What is the best food to eat and how much should one eat of it?" I do not believe that such questions can be answered. I feel that I have worked out a few rules for myself, but they apply to myself only and might not apply to one woman out of five. I think it is a safe rule to advise that rich, greasy foods be avoided altogether, that meals be eaten regularly, and that one should never eat so much as to feel stuffy. The greatest rule of all is never to eat when too tired. Any doctor will testify that many a case of ptomaine poisoning has been brought on by the fact that the diner was too tired to eat.

In addition to the proper exercise and the proper food, a woman who would be beautiful must rest properly. If she does not learn to do this, she can never hope to have a clear, unwrinkled skin and bright, unfretted eyes.

A Sure Way to Remove Coarse, Hairy Growths

Stubborn growths of coarse hair which have been caused by the unwise use of pastes and rub-on preparations can be devitalized with De Miracle, the original liquid hair remover, because it attacks hair under the skin as well as on the skin. Le Bon Ton says: De Miracle is "the best method in the world today." Only genuine publications of the highest character are quoted by us. Beware of so-called hair removers which are supposedly recommended through bogus quotations from so-called magazines which do not exist. —Advertisement.

The Peerless Powder in the Perfect Package

The Tetlow Box has a telescoping cover and is fitted with an inner container from which the powder may be poured into the puff-box without spilling. This container also keeps the powder clean and dry and conserves its perfume. The superiority of was positively established in 1876, when the judges of the Centennial Exposition awarded highest honors to the Henry Tetlow preparations, stating "that for purity of material, naturalness of effect and harmlessness to the skin, they are superior to any exhibited by the world."

HENRY TETLOW'S

To-day, Henry Tetlow's Face Powder is widely used in Europe in preference to French powders. Henry Tetlow's Gossamer is made in White, Flesh, Pink, Cream and Brunette tints.

Sold by leading druggists of Boston and vicinity.

You Should Worry If

it were difficult to find a safe and reliable remedy for the ailments due to irregular or defective action of the stomach, liver or bowels. These ailments are likely to attack anyone; likely, too, to lead to worse sickness if not relieved.

Beecham's Pills

are famous the world over, for their power to correct these troubles certainly and safely. They cleanse the system, purify the blood and act as a general tonic upon body, brain and nerves. Indigestion, biliousness, constipation might, indeed, cause you prolonged suffering and expose you to danger if Beecham's Pills

BIKERS READY FOR BIG RACE AT BEACH

The winner of the 25-mile motor-paced race at the Revere Cycle Track Saturday night will be featured in the big double holiday bill at the beach oval on Monday, according to an announcement by Manager Nat Butler. George Wiley, ex-national champion; Leon Didier of France and Elmer Collins of Lynn will be among the competitors for the honor.

With another big race as an incentive, the contest Saturday night should be more hotly contested than ever. The riders are hoping for clear weather today and tomorrow so as to be able to get in a couple of more good brushes before the tussle. Every one of the three are in perfect condition.

Remembering the incident of a year ago when Wiley and Didier went at it full tilt in a practice brush, Manager Butler is taking extra precautions to allow only one rider on the track at a time during the workouts. For this purpose he has assigned them different training hours.

Among the arrivals at the beach track yesterday was Victor Linert, the great Belgian rider, who made such an impressive showing in his first and only race here on April 19.

Linart has been signed up to race here Monday. Linart has beaten both Didier and Wiley, but has heard some talk of Wiley and Didier not being in condition at the time and is anxious to tackle either or both of them again.

In addition to the big Saturday night race, Manager Butler has arranged a special tandem race and a group of amateur and professional events.

Gibbons Gives Houck a Severe Trouncing

NEW YORK, May 27.—Mike Gibbons won all the way from Leo Houck at the St. Nicholas A. C. Mike cut Houck to ribbons from start to finish.

Only once did it look as if Houck might go to the canvas. That was in the fifth round, when Gibbons put a little more steam into his slashing wallops and had the Pennsylvanian in a bad way. But only for a short while, for Houck recovered with remarkable speed and soon got back at Gibbons.

Houck proved that he was a real scrapper, for otherwise he could not have stood up under the terrific beating Gibbons meted out. Not only was it a beating, but it was an unmerciful cutting up.

Pape's Claim Disallowed.

CINCINNATI, May 27.—The National Baseball Commission affirmed a decision of the national board in disallowing the claim of Player L. A. Pape for $660 against the Portland club of the Pacific Coast League.

RECORDS ARE SURE TO GO IN GREAT COLLEGE TRACK MEET

PHILADELPHIA, May 27.—The greatest athletic meet held in this country in many years will be the fortieth annual games of the Intercollegiate A. A. A. A. at Franklin Field Friday and Saturday. About four hundred of the picked athletes of the Eastern colleges, among them world and Olympic champions, will compete, and many records are expected to go by the board.

Given good weather, four, and possibly six, records are sure to go. The greatest interest, of course, centres in the fight for team honors. This year marks the beginning of a new series. Cornell won permanent possession of the intercollegiate cup last year, and for this year's meet a new cup is put up for competition. Most of the experts seem to think that the fight will be between Cornell and Pennsylvania, with Harvard, Yale or Dartmouth likely to spring a surprise.

CORNELL FAVORITE.

Cornell is strong, because the Ithacans have a nucleus of stars and a lot of men able to pick up seconds, thirds, fourths and fifths. In fact, Cornell threatens to score in as many events as a year ago, when the Ithacans tallied in eleven of the twelve events.

Pennsylvania, on the other hand, concentrates her strength on a few events, the sprints and hurdles and middle distance runs. If the Quakers come through here they will have a chance to win, otherwise not. The chances of Harvard and Yale depend to a great extent upon what their representatives can do to Pennsylvania in the sprints and hurdles, and to Cornell in the distance runs.

Among the Olympic champions who will be in action are Captain D. F. Lippincott of Pennsylvania, holder of the world's 100 meters' record and joint holder of the world's 220 yards record; J. E. Meredith, also of Pennsylvania, holder of the world's half-mile record; A. W. Richards of Cornell, holder of the Olympic high jump title; Oler of Yale, and a member of the Olympic team, and Worthington of Dartmouth.

MANY STARS IN SPRINTS.

Taking up the different events, first place in the 100 yards seems to lie between Ingersoll of Cornell, who has done the best work here this year; Lippincott and Patterson of Pennsylvania, and Teschner of Harvard. Smith of Michigan is also a favorite with some. The same men figure in the 220 yards' dash, with the addition of Lockwood of Pennsylvania.

The feature event looks to be the quarter mile, and here a new world and intercollegiate record is expected. The fight promises to be a three-cornered affair between J. E. Meredith, Pennsylvania; Willcox of Harvard, and Wilkie of Yale. Meredith is the present intercollegiate champion, with a record of 48 2-5 seconds. Wilkie of Yale did 48 1-5 seconds in the class games several weeks ago, while Willcox did 48 seconds flat in the Harvard-Yale meet. Meredith has to run the half mile as well as the quarter, and this is expected to give Willcox and Wilkie a slight advantage over him.

In the half mile Meredith must tackle a new bunch of rivals. Here he will meet Bingham of Harvard, who has transferred from the quarter to the half; Capper of Harvard, always a sure point winner here; Hayes of Princeton, fifth last year, and Speiden and Windnagle of Cornell, who will run the half after the mile.

In the mile Cornell has two good men in Speiden and Windnagle. Speiden won last year, while Windnagle is a new man. Cornell men seem to think more of Windnagle's chances. Princeton men are counting a lot on MacKenzie, while Yale men think Poucher has a chance for first place.

The best distance fight is sure to be in the two-mile run. Here at least four star performers will compete. Cornell has Hoffmire and Potter, who finished first and third last year; Yale has Overton and Colby has Kenz. The ability of Hoffmire and Potter is well known. Overton started out as a miler runner, but since his 4.53 mile at the Penn relays the Eli star has been changed to the two miles, in which event he has not yet been beaten.

RICE CLEVER HURLER.

Rice of Harvard has done the best high hurdling of the year. Once he did 15 4-5, and against Yale won in 15 3-5 seconds. Ferguson of Pennsylvania has done 15 4-5 this year and has beaten both Braun and Trenholm of Dartmouth, who recently were picked for first and second. Cornell has two fair men in Lukens and Starr. In the low hurdles the Pennsylvania men hope for first and second with Ferguson and Kaufman. Ferguson won the event last year and is running faster than ever now. Kaufman is only a yard slower.

In the high jump there is no one in the same class with Richards of Cornell, the Olympic champion. Richards did 6 feet 5 inches in the Penn relays and previously had done 6 feet 4 inches. Since the intercollegiate record is only 6 feet 3¼ inches, he ought to break it easily, provided the weather is fit. Cornell men expect Richards to score at least 10 points by getting something in the broad jump and the shot put.

The best broad jumping to date has been done by Oler of Yale, who cleared 23 feet 11 inches against Harvard. Richards, Worthington and Nordell, the last two from Dartmouth, are picked as the other point winners.

Many Sport Features at St. Finbar Outing

Members of the Knights of St. Finbar will turn out en masse for the annual Gaelic Athletic carnival, which will be held at Russell Field, Cambridge, on Monday. Manager Clancy has arranged a most attractive program of Gaelic athletic events.

Football and hurling games will feature the program, while amateur athletic contests will also come in for its share. The champion Emmett football team of Charlestown will meet the teams of Kerry and Cork for a $150 purse, while the Wolftones of Charlestown and the Young Irelands of Cambridge will meet in the feature hurling game. Besides these features, Manager Joe McNamara has arranged one of the best amateur athletic meets in which representatives of the B. A. A., the Irish-American A. A. and other local organizations have entered athletes.

Beverly High Elects New Football Leader

John Toomey has been elected captain of the Beverly High School football team for next season. This is the second election Beverly has held since the Thanksgiving Day football game with Salem. Soon after the big game Paul Nelson was chosen to lead B. H. S. for the coming season. Some time ago he left school. Owing to the recently adopted three months' residence rule in Salem, Beverly and other high schools, Nelson could not return to Beverly High and play football in the Fall of 1915. For that reason a new election had to be held.

Cornell Squad Off for Big Track Meet

ITHACA, May 27.—Thirty-one members of the Cornell track team left for Atlantic City, on their way to Philadelphia, to take part in the annual intercollegiate games. Lewis, a quarter-miler, and Van Kennen, a pole vaulter, were unable to make the trip because of injuries, and Foss, the crack pole vaulter, is not in good shape. The others are primed for a great struggle.

PHAIR VIEWS ON SPORTS

CIRCUMSTANTIAL EVIDENCE.

"The Giants are better than ever,"
Said cheerful old Johnny McGraw.
A rooter espied the club standings
And cried:
"Haw! Haw! Haw! Haw! Haw!
Haw! Haw! Haw! Haw!"

Vagotin hand it to McGraw as a strategist. When it comes to conducting a masterly retreat he can put it all over Von Kluck.

We note that Tom Hughes, who is pitching for the Braves, is a veteran. One of these days we expect to read that Hans Wagner, who plays shortstop for the Pirates, is a recruit.

SPRING SHOWERS.

"It hurts," the baseball magnate said
In gaze upon the rain.
Where'er I see the showers fall I feel a grievous pain."
"And does it hurt your rheumatiz where'er a rainstorm beats?"
"Ah, no!" the magnate made reply.
"It hurts my gate receipts."

A Mr. Diogenes has been arrested for stealing a watch, thus shattering another of our youthful illusions. Next thing we know a G. Washington will be pinched for perjury.

One of the chief differences between amateur boxing and amateur track athletics is that the amateur boxers don't get theirs.

THEY HAVE TO SHOW US.

They say that Zim is back in shape;
I cannot quite conceive it.
They say he's in his old-time form
And yet I don't believe it.
Although he makes his hits and runs
To charm the gents and ladies,
He has not told an ump this week
To chase himself to Hades.

Experts tell us that Zim is himself again, but we won't believe it until we have learned that he has called Bill Klem a catfish.

Milton Academy Has 7 Football Games

Manager Robert H. Ware has arranged a schedule of seven games for the Milton Academy football team for next season. Allen School, Groton and Browne & Nichols have been dropped, while St. Mark's and Noble & Greenough have been added to the list of opponents. Milton and St. Mark's have agreed upon games for two years, the game this year at Southboro and next year at Milton. The schedule:

Oct. 2—[illegible] at Milton.
9—Malden High at Milton.
16—Noble & Greenough at Milton.
23—St. George's at Newport.
30—St. Mark's at Southboro.
Nov. 6—Country Day at Milton.
13—[illegible] at Milton.

HUB NEEDS NEW BOXING TALENT

By JACK CONWAY.

THE success of the boxing game in [illegible]

THE management of the Atlas Club [illegible] Fred Yelle, the Taunton middleweight, showed great promise, but he was not offered the leading opponents in the world in his two matches in this city. He was pitted against Freddy Welsh and Charley White, and nobody in his right mind would declare that either of these men were "suckers." They are classed with the greatest boxers of their weight developed during the past decade. Yelle went the distance with Welsh but was flattened by White.

Yelle has not any intention of retiring from the ring. After a short rest he will again hurl a challenge at New England's [illegible].

FRANKIE MACK, the Beachmont lightweight, would probably give a good account of himself if he were signed to exchange blows with a high-class performer. Mack has met some of the leading men in the lightweight ranks during the past year, but has been forced to engage in most of his bouts away from home.

We would not like to see Mack matched with White, as the latter punches too hard for the Beachmont boy. Frankie, however, would make a good opponent for Joe Shugrue. He has already fought Shugrue once. It was a fifteen round bout and the outcome of Freddy Welsh and Charley White only had a small margin in his favor when the bell sounded at the end of the final frame. It was Mack's bout for ten rounds, but the Jersey City boxer came to the front with a rush during the last five frames and carried off the greater honors. Joe has been on the hospital list for some time, but expects to be back exchanging blows with the members of the lightweight brigade within a short while.

TODAY'S STOCK MARKET

By W. H. ROSS, Financial Editor

Stocks had a better tone when markets opened, there being more disposition to avoid hasty judgment in the case of the steamship Nebraskan. At the start a number of issues showed gains and the price trend was upward for the first half hour. It is said that the market is actually oversold. Trading was of fair volume.

Early gains in New York included Amalgamated ⅝, Chino 1¼, Utah 1⅛, American Can ⅝, American Sugar 1, U S Steel ⅜, Crucible Steel ⅝, Bethlehem [illegible] ⅝, American Locomotive ⅝, Westinghouse 1½, American Petroleum 1¼, Interborough-Metropolitan common ⅛, Missouri Pacific ⅛ and Canadian Pacific ⅝.

Coppers ranged higher in Boston, where some were the feature for strength and activity. Butte & Superior gained 1½ and American Zinc 1. Among issues [illegible] were Alaska Gold ⅛, Allouez [illegible], Granby 1, North Butte ⅝, Quincy ½, Mohawk ⅝ and Shoe Machinery 1½.

American stocks were quiet in London before markets opened on this side. The Bank of England statement is better than for one of last week. Its gold increased £1,[illegible] and its percentage of reserve to liabilities is 21.20 per cent, against 20.50 a week ago. But trading is slackening in London, if clearings mean much. They totalled £155,818,000 for the week, against £228,410,000 for the previous one.

RAILROADS EARNING MORE.

The increase in net earnings of railroads indicates that business is improving in this country. President Ripley estimates that Atchison will earn 9 per cent on common stock for the fiscal year ended by June, and that after dividends the road will have a surplus of $6,000,000. Southern Railway reports a gain of $104,124 in net for April. Northern Pacific net operating revenue increased $59,907 for that month and its surplus $1,[illegible]. Western Maryland net revenue increased $[illegible]. A favorable [illegible] is the blowing in of [illegible] more ovens in the Connellsville district since Friday last. But it is feared that the recall of Italians for war service will cause a labor shortage in that region.

BIG RISE IN SPELTER.

In the London metal market spelter advanced [illegible] today. The demand for spelter is so great that mining in the Joplin, Missouri, district is characterized by frenzied haste to increase the output. Present prices are without precedent. In London spot copper and futures were each [illegible] higher. Electrolytic was unchanged. It is said that Calumet & Hecla production for May should total 8,900,000 pounds, a gain of 1,[illegible] over last month.

Perfect Dentistry That Lasts

Whistle, sing, shout, laugh, sneeze, chew the hardest food, and these roofless teeth remain steadfastly in place, causing no annoyance or discomfort. Nobody suspects they are artificial teeth. You do not realize it yourself, as the roof of your mouth is uncovered, allowing you to talk with freedom. If wanted quickly, made in a day. Come here in the morning, have your old teeth extracted free, and return home at night with a new set that fits perfectly.

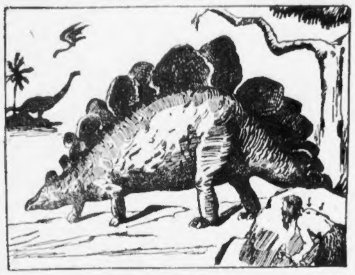
It Takes a Good Many Flies to Weigh an Ounce

Here Is a Monster That Weighed 20,000 Pounds—The Fly Is More Dangerous Than He Ever Was.

Copyright, 1915, by the Star Company.



Observe the Arrows Pointing at the Flies on the Man

The man in this picture is your great-great-grandfather of long ago. He looks with dread at a gigantic animal weighing 20,000 pounds, called by scientists a "stegosaurus."

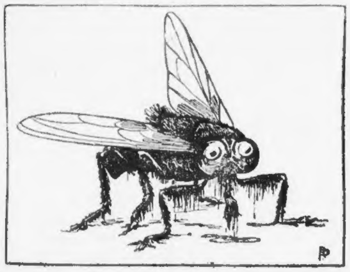
You can see what kind of an animal the monster is.

He has huge horns on the end of his tail, which would easily pierce the man and kill him. He has bony teeth on his back—a horrible thing to look at.

But, here is the moral, please look at the two little spots on the back of the man with the arrows pointing at them. THOSE SPOTS ARE FLIES. And we print this picture to call your attention to the fact that the fly creeping over your baby's face is more dangerous than this stegosaurus ever was.

Your savage ancestor in this picture would have grunted with contempt if you had told him that his descendants would have more to fear from the little fly on his back than from the hideous monster in front of him.

But the monsters are gone.



This Is Worse Than the Stegosaurus

And we still have with us our very great enemy, the fly, that gathers disease germs, carrying them from their breeding place in the manure piles to the food that you eat, and keeping the most dreadful diseases alive among us.

You would have little respect for this old ancestor of yours if he hadn't done his best to rid the world of the big monsters that frightened him.

You appreciate the work of human beings dead and buried, who have killed off the wolves, the bears, the poisonous serpents.

They have done THEIR duty.

NOW YOU DO YOURS. Let the succeeding generations thank us for eliminating the disease-bearing fly, as we thank our predecessors for ridding the world of its huge monsters.

You and each of your children can kill fifty thousand flies at one blow TODAY. For the fly that you kill NOW would add many thousands to the fly population if you let it live.

Show this picture to the children. Explain to them that the tiny fly on the back of the savage man is, and always has been, more dangerous to human beings than the biggest of the fierce animals.

Give to each child a "fly-swatter." And tell them all to be fierce hunters of man's disease-carrying enemy, the fly.

Letters from American Readers

THE AMERICAN IS ALWAYS IMPARTIAL.

Editor BOSTON AMERICAN:

Dear Sir—I wish to express to you my great appreciation of the splendid account which your paper gave of the anti-suffrage meeting at Tremont Temple. The report was not only complete and accurate, but you very kindly gave us the same relative position in the paper that was accorded to the suffragists.

I want to say that we are very much pleased at the treatment we are receiving at the hands of your paper. We know it is the policy of the AMERICAN to espouse the cause of suffrage, but we feel that you have been very fair with us in according to the anti-suffrage side fair treatment.

Very truly yours,
(MRS. JOHN) KATHARINE T. BALCH, president Public Interests' League of the Massachusetts Anti-Suffrage Association.

The Chase

By Jane McLean

I SEARCHED the wide world through for May,
Nor reasoned she was free,
If I her flying feet might stay
The while she dwelled with me.

I took the trail of green
Afar, for I had seen
Fair May; but though I heard
The echoed thrilling of a bird,
Though here and there I found
Flower petals on the ground,
Into the white-birch wood
She sped, and laughing stood
Asway. I was so near
I saw the wind lift clear
Her gown; I caught the note
Of laughter in her throat.
Then danced she all too soon
Into the arms of June.

I searched the wide world through for May,
Nor reasoned she was free;
I might have known I could not stay
Her steps to dwell with me.

Inklings and Thinklings

Designer in "polymuriel" contest comes across with a universal dress for women. Calls it the "pettipantalette." Looks something like the rig worn by the Chinese, who doped out the very best dress for both men and women that has ever been devised. But we fear that as a name for a practical garment "pettipantalette" is at least three syllables too long.

Oh, yes; almost forgot the key. "Necessity knows no law."

Little Sins of Husbands Cause Most Divorces

Women Can Forgive Broken Faith and Brutality, but They Revolt at Meanness, Stinginess and Neglect, Says Dorothy Dix

By Dorothy Dix

I GET innumerable letters from unhappy wives, telling pathetic stories of their domestic woes, and asking whether they shall get divorces from the husbands who treat them so badly and with whom they are so miserable.

Oddly enough these letters seldom complain of the two causes—infidelity and physical brutality—which are the most commonly recognized reasons for divorce in the eyes of the law. It is not the great sins against them that the women find it hard to forgive. It is the little sins of meanness, and stinginess, and neglect that break the hearts of wives and make their lives desolate.

The husband in these cases is seldom a drunken beast or a gay Lothario. He is just tight-fisted, cross-grained, grouchy and surly-tempered, and he nags and frets at his wife until he drives her to desperation. Nothing she does ever pleases him. He never gives her a cent to spend for her own pleasure. He never takes her anywhere, or pays her a compliment, or does a single thing to show that he has any spark of affection for her. Often he never even speaks when he is at home except to complain about something, or to growl over the monthly bills.

It is no wonder that such conduct from a husband gets upon his wife's nerves, that she rebels at such grinding tyranny, and that she comes to the place where she thinks longingly of divorce and believes that whatever hardships the world may hold for her without her home, they cannot be so bad as the purgatory she endures within it.

Personally I have no prejudice against divorce. I think that there are thousands of cases in which the highest good of the individual and of society are best served by a mismated couple parting and going their different ways. I cannot see how morality is enhanced by a man and a woman who hate each other being forced to live together in a companionship that fosters everything that is evil in them, but it is not for me, or another, to intermeddle in such a serious matter. The question of divorce is between a husband and a wife and their own consciences.

Aside, however, from the ethical view of the problem, there is the practical one, to whose consideration I would direct the attention of these women who have been stung into a frenzy by the gadflies of their husband's little meannesses, and that is that in getting a divorce a woman very often hops out of the frying pan into the fire.

Smarting under injustice and the lack of appreciation, disillusioned, discouraged, her patience worn to shreds, her very soul starved for pleasure, a woman looks toward Reno as toward the promised land.

Divorce seems the quick cure for all of her troubles. But this is far enough from being the case. Divorce is no picnic. It is a tragedy so full of tears and sorrows that it has made many a woman wish she had endured the troubles she had instead of flying to those she knew not of.

The woman who is married to a respectable man who makes a good living must face the fact that she sacrifices her children if she divorces their father. She deprives them of the position and the advantages that he could give them. She destroys the background of a home against which girls look most desirable to men. The girls of a divorced couple have smaller chance to marry well, the boys less prospect of being well launched in life, than have the children of a family that keeps together.

Therefore a mother will do well to stand almost anything from a disagreeable husband rather than make her children half orphans. After all, hard words break no bones, and the woman has her reward who can feel that she has offered herself up as a sacrifice to those for whom she would give her life, and does give her happiness.

The woman who is financially independent may think of divorce as a refuge, but the woman who has no money of her own, and is an expert at no trade or occupation by which she can support herself, finds that in leaving her husband she has thrown away her bread and butter, and that even a grouchy meal ticket is better than no ticket at all.

Unless a man is very rich, there is no such thing as collecting alimony from him. He can evade paying it in a thousand ways. When there are so many alert young girls looking for work, no one wants to employ a middle-aged divorcee. Friends who mingled their tears with the unhappy wife's do not open their doors to her when she needs shelter and food, and even if her parents are able to take her back home they do it as a duty and not because they want her. They regard her with pity, but as a failure, and one who has made a mess of her life.

All of these are things for the unhappy wife to consider, and she may also well consider this further point, that life, at best, is a series of compromises. None of us gets exactly what he wants, and so, even when he is cantankerous and is as disagreeable to live with as a sore-headed bear, it is oftener than not the part of wisdom for a woman to make the best of her lot instead of trying to change it by divorce.

After all, sentiment is not everything in the world, nor can a hateful personality ruin everything, and a woman has her children, a comfortable living, her friends, her position in society as her consolations. And, as a witty French woman said, "we cannot be wholly desolate, for there are always the new fashions."
